Summary of reasons for decision:

The image depicts a youthful naked male subject performing a sexual act on himself whilst another male watches. The Classification Office has considered whether the image promotes or supports, or tends to promote or support, the exploitation of young persons for sexual purposes under s3(2)(a) of the Films, Videos, and Publications Classification Act 1993 and has concluded that it does not. The ages of the subjects are ambiguous and while there are aspects of their appearance that are youthful, they could just as easily be young adults. As the subjects cannot unequivocally be said to be young persons, the image cannot fairly be said to meet the high threshold required for this criterion. However, the unrestricted availability of the image is still likely to be injurious to the public good. Society perceives harm to children and teenagers from being exposed to explicit sexual material before they are developmentally ready to process it. Therefore the image is restricted to adults. The classification interferes with the right to freedom of expression contained in the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990 but is reasonable and justified in order to prevent injury to the public good.
